The 2005-06 Varsity Slow Pitch Softball team ended the season with a final record of 6-5. Spokane Public Schools first established slow-pitch softball in the fall of 2002, meaning this was a novel accomplishment for our Lewis and Clark girls.

Nicole Moravec, a senior who has been on the team during three inaugural years of the sport, is optimistic about next season's team. "It was a rebuilding year because we lost a lot of key players," said Moravec.

After winning their first playoff game, they lost their second game giving the team a respectable 3rd place finish in School District 81. "I think we'll do great (next season) since we only lost two seniors off the team," said junior Stefoni Olmstead, "but we do have to replace pitcher Nicole Moravec." While the Lady Tigers aren't the league champions this year, you can expect them to battle back to the top next season.

Making History

Early start, potential helped Karina Grussling, LC's first four-year senior, become the skilled softball player she is Karina Grussling's love affair with softball began innocently enough. "My dad actually got me into the sport because when I was a little kid I was able to throw him a ball, I guess," Grussling said. From that simple game of toss as a 6-year-old, Grussling has become the first four-year senior in the history of the Lewis and Clark High School slow-pitch softball program. Even in the first weeks of the program back in 2002, Tiger Head Coach Tara Groves was able to see Grussling's potential. "She was really shy, but she was always really talented all along," said Groves. "The reason I took her as a freshman, even though we had great numbers, was she could play anywhere. At the time she was a second baseman, and we needed an outfielder. I knew I could convert her because she was skilled enough. I forced her into playing right field for us, and every year since then she has improved as an outfielder." Grussling's softball education began almost immediately after she made the team her first year.

"When I was a freshman, there was this girl named Kristi Rhodes," said Grussling. "She was a junior when I was a freshman. She was an upperclassmen and she was really good. She was really nice, too. She told me what to do, and how to help with my throwing and batting. She kind of made me think that I should be as good as her when I got older. She made me work harder and be the player I could be." Her improvement process has been seen most dramatically in the batters box.

"She ended up batting 2 (second) for us last year," said Groves. "She's come from the bottom of the lineup all the way up. She's really hitting the ball much, much better. She's just a base-hit hitter. She just dops away and gets on," she said.

Grussling is now at the stage where she can share her skills with younger players.

"As a freshman, I didn't have the ability to increase to what the upperclassmen had," she said. "Through the years, I've seemed to get the skills and become like the upperclassmen, and get to teach the younger ones."

That leadership is something both player and coach hope will benefit Grussling and the Tigers this season.

"I want to improve in becoming more of a leader," said Grussling. "On being a leader, I am shy, but just being out there with my friends, I'm really energetic."

Grussling "leads by example," Groves said. "She's not real rah-rah. She knows where the ball should be going every time it's hit. She'll let her teammates know those kinds of things. She is a good leader but in different ways. Usually your leader is more of a quarterback and real loud and vocal, but that is not so much her role."

One thing Grussling is proud of is being part of the start of the slow-pitch program at Lewis and Clark. "From the beginning, our teams were small, but we've ended up getting more players throughout the years, knowing more high school girls would love to try out because they maybe have nothing else to do, and that maybe it's an easy sport because it's modified," she said.

"Every year our team grows and is getting stronger. I can't even believe that three years have gone by and this will be my last year to play softball at Lewis and Clark. I want to make the best of it. I want to give next year's players encouragement."

Our Varsity team finished with a winning season with 5 wins and 4 defeats placing them 5th in the GSL. Varsity defensive back Pete Arneson summed up the season well. "The team was definitely full of a great group of guys. The football season this year had its ups and downs, we had a very strong team, but we broke down a few times." Senior running back Ethen Robinson made the all GSL team for his outstanding abilities on the Tiger football team.

Coach Yearout commented that his players were "a great group to work with each day. They prepared themselves well for each week and made a commitment to playing hard each and every week. My sincere hope is that each of them will look back and say they learned life lessons from their high school football experience at LC."

When we are old and wise, and look back at our high school days, chances are, many of us will remember the football games at Albi Stadium. Football has been the sport to play since the beginning of high school. This year, football wasn't just about the game. It was about working hard, playing harder, and being part of a team.

SOCCER

The 2005-06 Girls Varsity Soccer team ended the season with a final record of 5-8 in league play and 6-10 overall, a respectable record in a tough season of Greater Spokane League Soccer.

While it may have been a challenging year for the Lady Tigers, they did beat rival Ferris 2-1 in an exciting game on September 9th. They also beat Cheney, West Valley, Clarkston, Rogers, and North Central this season.

This year's coach was Mr. Curtis with Maggie Yates and Katie Dittman as the team captains. Unfortunately the Tigers were not able to make the playoffs this season, but you can expect this strong team to play as hard as they can next season.

This year was full of surprises and challenges for the LC cross country program. While the girls' team did not go undefeated as hoped, they still ended up with an impressive season. Varsity went 9-4, JV 11-2, and freshmen girls 12-1, hardly a disappointing season. The boys' Varsity team went 7-5, the JV 7-5, and the freshmen team 10-2. Girls JV placed 2nd at All City, and Boys JV placed 3rd. The freshmen teams did equally as well, with the boys' freshmen team placing 4th and the girls' freshmen team placing 3rd in the city. According to the standings going into regionals, the boys team was not favored to make it into the top three, which would qualify them for state. In true underdog form, they prevailed and won a coveted spot in the state competition. While they didn't do as well as they had hoped to at state, they still managed to beat the odds that were placed so overwhelmingly against them. Girls Varsity also participated at regionals. While the team as a whole did not make it into the top three. Sophomore Ellie Siler placed 8th, and made it to state, where she placed 34th overall. The Lewis and Clark cross country team prevailed over the doubts from critics, newspapers, team injuries, and at times frustrating defeats to have a successful season.

As a chaos of screams filled every corner of the field house gymnasium, a mixture of parents, grandparents and avid fans pack the bleachers preparing for the second home game of the volleyball season. It was September 20, 2005, and our LC Lady Tiger Volleyball Team was dominating with four wins under their belts, but they were about to meet their match.

Earlier that morning, I had run into Erika Whittaker and Hannah Zimmerman, two varsity volleyball players. Erika's words, "everyone has to come, this could be the biggest game of the season" rang through my head as I watched the Mead Varsity Volleyball team march into the gym. There was only one word to describe the game that would follow this jumble of ecstatic fans, proud parents, and aggressive volleyball players...hardcore.

By the end of the game the entire gym and the LC girls had suffered through their first and only loss of the year. Despite the loss spirits remained high for the rest of the season. The Mead game was their only loss during regular season play, and they went on to earn fifth in state!

A Night In

Homecoming '05

The variety of corsets sweetened up the brightly lit dance floor.

The 2005 Homecoming Dance, held on October 8th, was no doubt a huge success. Everyone dressed to impress, couples were lined up in the wrestling room waiting to pose for pictures, and many couples danced the night away. These traditions have been carried out since the time of our parents and even grandparents, but are always altered to a unique style. Styles have changed; nearly all dresses were full-length but there were quite a few cocktail dresses, and even a few fabulous "does that even qualify as a dress?" dresses. Most of the young gentleman looked rather dapper as well. A few couples even stuck to the theme of the dance, A Night in Neverland, and dressed up as Tinkerbell or Lost boy. The decorations were rather impressive. Streamers of blue and purple hearts with each couple's name on them decorated the gym as the 2003 rendition of Peter Pan showed against the far right wall.

The 2005-06 Varsity Wrestling team had a great season with a winning GSL record of 5-3. This season was highlighted by a victory over Ferris, crowning LC as King of the Hill Champions.

The team sent four wrestlers to regionals, where Anthony Varnell took 1st place, Trevor Powell took 2nd, Alex Nelson took 5th, and Steve Cooley took 6th. Both Trevor Powell and Anthony Varnell continued on to the state tournament where they took 3rd and 4th place, respectively.

This year's varsity coach was Mr. Lingo. Anthony Varnell received the award for Most Valuable Wrestler, Trevor Powell was crowned as the Most Improved, and Roman Maier received the Tyler Byers Coaches Award this year.

GYMNASTICS

The Coed gymnastics team had a great season with many individual athletes meeting personal goals and expectations. This team made up of both girls and boys travels the GSL competing against teams from surrounding schools. The team competed in six Greater Spokane League competitions throughout the 2005/2006 season. With five seniors leaving this year, the Lewis and Clark gymnastics team stepped up during some challenging times. "They did great," said coach Jackie Fulton. "They met all their individual expectations. Girls that had never competed before were participating in Districts." It was a notable season for senior captain Rachel Rupp. Rachel competed with Team Washington in Florida last May at the Senior National Meet.

STATE CHAMPS

The Lewis and Clark Girls' Varsity Basketball team had an incredible season earning the WIAA 4A Basketball State Championship.

The road to the championship began with a win over Gig Harbor in the 1st round by a score of 60-45. The girls continued their dominance by beating Lincoln in the quarter final round and Auburn-Riverside in the semi-final round, earning a spot in the state championship game. Prairie narrowly beat University 59-56 to face the Tigers in the championship game.

In an impressive performance Katelyn Redmon scored a season-high 22 points. Heather Bowman scored 16 points and was voted as the Most Valuable Player of the Tournament. Lyndi Seidensticker made 2 three-point shots, scoring 10 points in the game. The Lady Tigers held on to win 66-44 over Prairie, claiming the state championship.

Through the cold and drenching winter, the LC varsity boy's basketball team persevered. On any given Friday night, you could find these 12 young men running up and down the court with a faithful group of fans cheering them on.

Leading scorer junior point guard Andre Jennings was always worth watching, with an average of 11 points per game. Senior T.J. Lee-Hill had 21 points in the final game against University, with 12 of those points made with three pointers.

An unforgettable game for our varsity Tigers was our impressive win against East Valley. Tied at the end of the second half, the Tigers stepped it up and took a 73-67 victory, with junior Skylar Kliewer walking away with a career high of 21 points in one game.

Senior Jordan Washington missed out on the first half of the season because of a should injury, but was able to play the last 7 games of his high school career and go out with a bang.

The newest (and most permanent) addition to the team is Coach Norton. This was his first year coaching the boy's varsity team, but with over 20 years of coaching freshman and junior varsity teams at LC, he is more than qualified for the job.

Nothing gets LC students fired up like a performance by the state recognized Lewis and Clark Tiger Drill Team. This year's captain's seniors Markio Nagashima, Emma Scherer and junior Marisa Hagney kept our kick lines straight and our ripples in tempo and senior Mary Ellen Cooley and sophomore Ramsey Larson choreographed the moves that made our drill team one of the best in the state. Our lady Tigers placed first in the Rogers High School Invitational and left the competition with the highest score of teams competing in drill. In the Pasco High School Invitational, the girls also walked a way with the highest overall score in the competition with a first place in the pom category and a third place in drill. The Mead High School Districts were yet another success for our ladies, who took a first place in both drill and pom. In the Washington State Competition, the Lewis and Clark Tiger Drill Team took a third place in drill, and received an "excellent" rating in pom, but if you ask any of the drill team members, they will tell you that their pom performance was the best they had ever done.

An army of orange cheered for the boys and girls basketball teams at the annual spirit competition, Rubber Chicken. The theme this year was SOS Chuck Overboard. The girls dominated the court in their game but the boys couldn't quite pull of a win in the end. The cheerleaders and Spooch Crew lead the loud crowd in cheers and performed during half time. As usual the drill team performance was another highlight of the night. Unfortunately, the Ferris Saxons captured the ultimate prize for the evening, Chuck the Chicken.

Cheerleading

Every spring sophomore and junior ladies around LC spend hours a day rehearsing to become one of the new additions to the Lewis and Clark Cheerleading Squad. As soon as summer has begun, all girls are shipped off to cheer camps for weeks at a time, requiring mass amounts of energy and spirit. By the time fall semester starts the girls spend just as much time cheering as they do in their normal classes, participating at each football, basketball, and other games to maintain the spirit and positive attitudes of the students and players. All this just goes to prove that it takes a little more to be a Tiger.

SOFTBALL

A slow, rained out start on the field sure didn't dampen the spirits of these Tigers. With only two seniors, Nicole Moravec and Karina Grussling, the team battled some interesting games, not always ending the way they wanted. Dealing with adversity, the girls won just two games in the first half of the season. Their only pitcher, Hayley Urgeleite, worked hard, playing a full game sometimes 3 to 4 times a week! A few team problems occurred throughout the season with several battling injuries. Kate Burke, the starting center fielder, was sidelined due to a bad shoulder injury, and a number of players suffered from thrown-out arms. "I just loved the way Coach always called the umpire 'umpy'!" said Alexis Deater, the only freshman on the Varsity team. Seems everyone really had a good time this season, and Coaches Dan Fry and Dick Morrison are looking forward to a good season next year, and maybe a shot at GSL Champs.

Lewis and Clark place finishes. Both teams held strong throughout most of the season, but with losses to CV and Mt. Spokane, the girls sadly could not defend their title. The boys however blew away the competition and retained their winning streak. The boys team is hopeful that a GSL title will finally come their way. The boys are in a 76 year drought for the League Championship.

After a promising start for the Lewis & Clark Boys Golf team, they hoped for a successful season. LC beat Mead by two strokes on April 25th winning the tournament at Indian Canyon Golf Course. The top four teams at the 4th GSL event were all within six strokes of each other. With another GSL Golf tournament on the way, the team is hoping for a strong finish to the season.

During the spring, many games and practices are cancelled due to bad weather. However, rain or shine, the LC Girls golf team headed up to Indian Canyon to practice a sport underestimated by several athletes. Golf is a sport that takes years of practice, hours of meticulous drills, and a dedication to a sport that can be played for a lifetime.

In the Clarkston Invitational, the girls took a first place with junior Katrina Bech medaling. In the Jim Shriver Invitational, the Lady Tigers took home another first place with senior Molly Fuhs medaling. In the first GSL match of the season, the ladies took the win by one stroke. The girls earned second place in the second GSL match of the season with an impressive score of 409. In the third GSL match, the ladies took yet another first place, edging Mead by one stroke again. Graduating seniors Molly Fuhs and Ali Moran played All GSL.

The Lewis & Clark Boys Tennis team had a great start to their season as Nils Ringo and Jeffrey Burkert defeated Kevin Darrow and Kris Mayhew of University 6-1, 6-2 on March 21st. The Tigers also won team scoring 6-0. On April 13, Ben Gullickson defeated Max Nelson of Medical Lake 6-0, 6-1. LC won the match with a team score 6-1. The Tigers are looking forward to a strong finish this season with playoff intentions. On the girls side, the team is led by Junior Elise Otto who is off to a very strong start. LC's number one player is one of the top players in the Greater Spokane League. "This years team really gets along well, but it really is a very individual sport" says Junior Kelsey Rickard. Tennis is not only a sport of endurance in regards to getting through exhaustive matches, but these players have a season packed with matches and tournaments. The boys and girls will each play six divisional games and four cross-divisional games. If things go well, it's on to the Inland Empire Tournament, then the District Tournament, after that is the Regional Tournament, and finally the AA State Tournament.

The Lewis & Clark High School Boys had a solid season finishing in the upper tier of the Greater Spokane League. The Tigers celebrated wins this season against Deer Park, Mt. Spokane, North Central, Rogers, West Valley, Central Valley, Gonzaga Prep, and Clarkston. Two first half goals against Gonzaga Prep helped LC cruise to the 2-0 victory on April 19th. Peter Dunau dribbled past five G-Prep defenders to score while Seth Anderson made a penalty kick. With many returning players, the Tigers are excited for another great season next year.

CLUBS & ACTIVITIES

Spectrum

SPECTRUM is Lewis and Clark's gay/straight alliance group working together to gain equal acceptance among all people regardless of personal choices or belief. This group was put together back in 2000 by student Brad Crellia. Mr. Bryan Jackson is the group's advisor.

"It's important to have understanding especially in high school when people are realizing who they are," said junior Kelli Crawford, a member of Spectrum. "We are working to gain equal acceptance and a nurturing environment."

This year Spectrum met on Mondays during lunch in room 017. If you would like to join the club, they are always looking for new members and they will be back next year encouraging acceptance for all.

PICI

Practicum in Community Involvement (PICI) is an award-winning program that Lewis and Clark seniors have had the privilege to participate in for the past 12 years. Students enrolled in the class choose an internship with a community organization that they are interested in learning more about. Throughout the year, the students are required to intern three hours per week, research an issue related to their internship, and consult with an expert on their subject as a mentor. It all culminates in a research paper due at the end of the year.

The PICI experience ranges broadly from student to student depending on their internship and research subject. Students this year are interning at more than 30 different organizations including, the Vanessa Behan Crisis Nursery, Deaconess Medical Center, The Center for Justice, Habitat for Humanity, and the Martin Luther King Center. Various research topics include the media's effect on young people, medical ethics, pressures teens face in our society, and the relationship between music and brain development.

Key Club

Clubs 169

For the past decade Key Club has been volunteering in the LC community. This group of students spends time tutoring area children. They are also behind the annual Trick or Treat for Canned Food Drive, which brought three truck loads of food for the area's needy this year. Also, they worked at First Night Spokane on New Years Eve, and organized a dinner with the local Kiwanis Club to raise over $700 dollars for their causes.

Geo-Soph is LC's resident recycling club. Since its inception more than fifteen years ago, Geo-Soph members have been sorting our paper, looking for cans, bottles, and other non-recyclable items. Every week they roam the school emptying the large blue paper bins in all of the class rooms in the school making sure that we don't waste more paper than necessary. Every year on Earth Day, the club organizes a fun event to encourage more recycling.

Los Hermanos is a group dedicated to funding a high school in El Salvador. "We had several fundraisers including several car washes over the summer," said junior Erin Fitzpatrick. Through these fundraisers, the group was able to visit El Salvador and construct a computer lab for the high school. "Since El Salvador is a third world country," said junior Lillian Dubiel, a member of the group, "they won't be able to pull themselves out of poverty without a high school education." This year, the group already has more fundraisers planned including a dinner at a Unitarian Church. The group's president is Peter Gurche along with advisor Mr. Davis and Vice Presidents Lillian Dubiel and Erin Fitzpatrick. This year the group met on Fridays at lunch in Mr. Davis' room and they would love to have more support next year.

LC BAND

"This years' band has a lot of the leadership roles filled," says Mr. Jay, Band Advisor. No doubt they are off to a great start. Marching band came in 2nd in their division, along with the highest music score of all the bands, and the highest general effects scores. Band has always been a big part of LC life from the cons to Rubber Chicken. Along with school and spirit related performances, the band also participates in many other events. Some of these include the Reno Jazz Festival and the E.W.M.E. Festivals.

Left: Perfect Flute and clarinet notes come with hard work and tons of practice - band students can very much relate to this.

Choir

Once upon a time there was an LC student who, on your typical choir trip, got off to get a refreshing ice cream treat. The typical bus driver, thinking everyone was on the bus, took off to the Experience Music Project (EMP), our choir student returned to find the bus not there. What to do? Well, she had to get to the EMP for her performance, so she hops onto some form of public transportation and makes her way eventually to the EMP, arriving before the bus even gets there. This, according to Mrs. Blair, was one of the funniest choir moments to date. The students? "They're all awesome. I'm so blessed this year. All the choirs are meeting my expectations," says Mrs. Blair, Choir Coordinator. Mrs. Blair is the enthusiastic conductor of four choir levels here at LC. Students participate in Intermediate, Advanced, and Chamber Choirs, as well as Vocal Ensemble, and compete in various tournaments and competitions all of which LC proudly supports.

All the world is a stage, and Lewis and Clark has some of its most enthusiastic players. If you're looking for any of these stars, they can be found in the Drama Club. This year, Lewis and Clark drama students put on a spectacular performance of the play "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory" along with a dazzling performance of "West Side Story". These actors and actresses underwent weeks of rehearsals and hours of costume preparation to stand onstage and change the way people saw them for a few short hours.

We all know just how hard and long these LC students work to put on a show for the rest of the school. And face it, we like the show that they do give us... right? Right. So for us non-dramatic people it's just a little five-letter word, but for them, it's a lot of well-deserved talent that they save up for a few spectacular performances.

Drama

Clubs and Activities 173

Fall play: "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory": Kyle Carter as the famous chocolateer in front of his factory; and "Violet, you're turning violet": played by Kandy Lindstrom

Spring Musical: "West Side Story" is coming in with Mic Smith vs. Elian Carbone. Hilary Landers and Mia Yoshida singing during a lively scene.

Captain), Brandon Jordan, Annika (TA), Anna Dunn (TA) Not Pictured: Jordan Clark, Joe Armstrong, Alex Cypro, Meghan Urschel, Hugh Frieschbach, Joe Pined, Will Malpin, Caitlin Ormsby, Marley Pesch, Alex Nelson, Shana Hayward

Advisor Phil Koestner has seen the Lewis and Clark debate team dramatically transform since he first started coaching here in 2003. Hopes of being the top team in the GSI and at least third in state for the 2005-2006 school year are no longer just dreams. "Our Lewis and Clark debate team won the Gonzaga University debate tournament, one of the largest in the Northwest," said Koestner.

Outstanding individuals are necessary ingredients to a winning debate team. This year the team was led by captains Bethany Abbot, Kelton Peterson-Allen, Nate Fringle, and Lauren Ring. Junior Kyle Lewis and senior Lauren Ring were both successful competing in the Lincoln Douglas style debate. Kelton Peterson-Allen and Nate Fringle dominated in duo interpretation and humorous interpretation, two events that are very similar to acting out Saturday Night Live skits. Other noteworthy individuals include Garry Padrta and Caleb Jewett who together formed a winning cross examination debate team.

Newspaper

"We've learned a lot about accuracy and facial hair," said advisor Mrs. Showalter when asked to sum up the year in newspaper class. Newspaper class underwent many changes this year, including Jen Showalter becoming the new advisor. "It is been a productive, nauseating, and overall fairly creative year," said Editor-in-Chief Jessica Reichard (AKA the 6th Reich to her newspaper peers). A colorful array of students worked as editors to the newspaper this year. Mac Smith worked as Opinions Editor, however he spent most of his time licking computers and reminiscing about his days in the mountain with Jack Siddoway (AKA Gylenthaal). When loud cussing could be heard, it was bound to be Sports Editor Elliot Boswell, and when comments about how she hated everyone in newspaper class could be heard, it was bound to be News Editor Kandy Lindstrom. Kjersti Cubberley was the Features Editor, most known for being responsible for the infamous 'Amnesty sells T-Shirts' article. Photo Editor Meaghan Driscoll was in charge of photo editing for the newspaper's pictures.

ASB

They are the students who lead the cons. They are some of the hardest working, enthusiastic people you will ever meet. They are Lewis and Clark ASB officers.

But there is more to ASB than leading cons. These six hardworking students volunteer several hours of their own time to make the high school experience an experience to remember.

Most of their work is hard and thankless, but that never prevents our officers from doing an outstanding job. Homecoming was a success, thanks to our ASB officers. Rubber Chicken ran smoothly, thanks to our ASB officers. The 2005-2006 school year has been spirited, fun and a year to remember, thanks to our ASB officers.

Knowledge Bowl

Sir Francis Bacon once said that "knowledge is power". This year's Knowledge Bowl team is full of power. Our Lewis and Clark Knowledge Bowl students use tidbits of knowledge that others see as "trivia" to become state champs. These students are not only some of Lewis and Clark's brightest students, but they are the Jeopardy winners of tomorrow.

The state Knowledge Bowl team consisted of six seniors: Kyl Wellman, Sarah Godlewski, John Taffin, Jeff Genung, Martin Box and Elliot Boswell. All year they focused on winning state, with lunch practices in Mr. Jackson's room every Tuesday and Thursday since September. Prior to their state championship, they won the Inland Empire Knowledge Bowl League and defeated 36 schools at Regionals.

Andrea Swensen, Katherine Johnson, Josiane Mulindangwe, Sherry Best, and Mark Srafer

The Special Education program at Lewis and Clark is one that we should hold in high regard. Students at this school who are enrolled in the program have a lot to learn and are here to learn it with the guidance of Ms. Nowak and many others. In addition to regular academic subjects, these students are obtaining social skills. These Tigers truly are special.

Leadership

Clubs 177

The leadership class is a small group of seniors, all of whom are somehow related to ASB or class officer positions. These hard-working students plan, set up, and clean up all of LC's cons, with the exception of the Martin Luther King con. Homecoming week is also planned by the leadership group, ranging from the spirit days to the dance theme and decoration.

Homecoming week isn't the only fun week planned by these students. Remember May Week? May Week is a week in May where students dine outside in the company of some of LC's most talented musicians. Food not usually available to students, such as Otter Pops and cotton candy, is sold at a very reasonable price. All these activities take a lot of planning. We are able to enjoy these events thanks to the students in our leadership class.

Student Artwork

Hundreds of students are involved in Lewis and Clark's art department. Classes include: jewelry making, color and design, painting, and photography. Students beginner to advanced develop their skills while creating top-notch art in these classes.

Bess Butterworth and Greg Shulman worked together to create a unique piece of artwork. The drawing starts with a story of two lovers and ends with a choice of two tragic endings.

Student Artwork 182

Junior Eric Tha made a beautiful piece of art in his painting class this year. He is one of the dedicated art students, spending much of his free time working on his art projects.

Senior Studio Student Bryce Potucek made a creative painting for the Valentine's Day Project. He made a graffiti painting "Give Love away."

Student Artwork 183

Senior Brad Ell has made countless pieces of jewelry in the fine arts program at LC. Below are three beautiful pieces he made this year.

Erin Howard has created some stunning jewelry pieces in her jewelry making class.

The "Frisbee Field" is tucked away off campus at Manito park. This unique venue is a place where friends can get together and enjoy the outdoors and toss the frisbee. For years seniors have kept the tradition by visiting this unique place. The "Friz Field", as it is often referred to, has a reputation of being a friendly and free spirited place where all are welcome. In addition to frisbee, other activities that take place at the field include: tree climbing, biking, unicycling, soccer, and aerobe disc. Come play frisbee LC!!

Foods & Nutrition

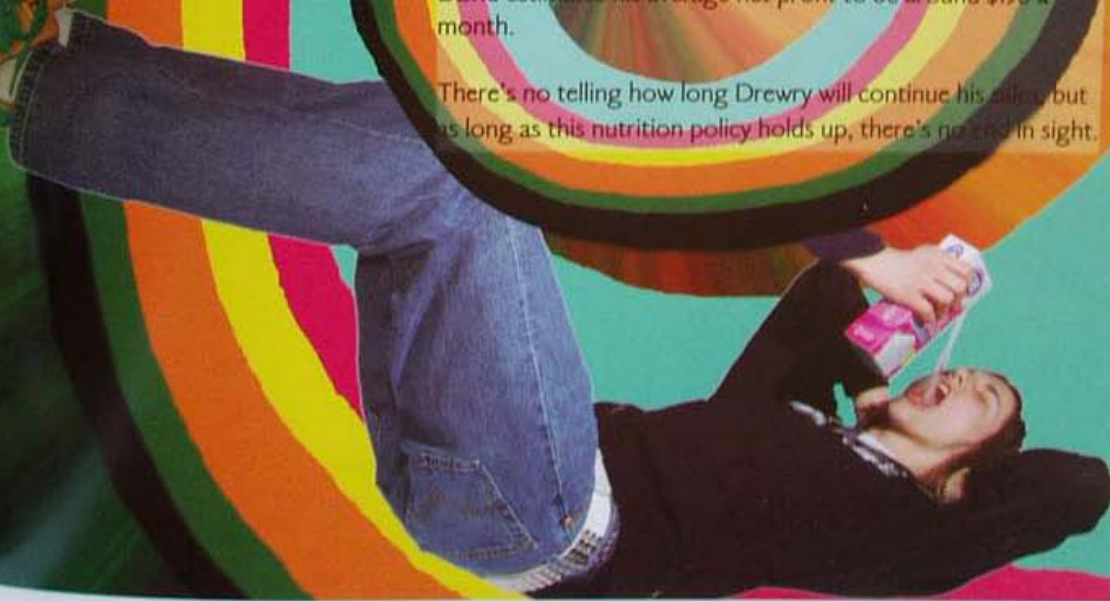

A Man With A Plan

As the new nutrition policy removed sugar laced drinks from the halls of LC, entrepreneur David Drewry saw an opportunity. "I started bringing soft drinks to defy the system, but soon realized people were willing to pay for it." Drewry can be found roaming the campus of LC with his trademark silver "hot cold" bag full of Mt. Dew, Coke, and Rock Star. Although Mt. Dew is popular, his best seller is the high caffeine energy drink, Rock Star.

Drewry has made some interesting observations while selling his product. Surprisingly, his least popular day is Friday, while his best selling day is Tuesday. His drinks tend to bring back customers on a regular basis. "If you seek them out and sell them Mt. Dew every day, on the third day they'll find you!" David estimates his average net profit to be around $150 a month.

There's no telling how long Drewry will continue his sales, but as long as this nutrition policy holds up, there's no end in sight.

Pop Culture 199

LC tigers are transporting the newest music from My Chemical Romance to Fall Out Boy to the Pussycat Dolls on the hot-to-trot iPods.

Myspace and other sites like it have rocked the internet for the modern-day teen. It offers a place to make friends and relationships as well as chatting Instant Messaging and music.

Harry Potter and The Half Blood Prince by J.K. Rowling was the best-selling young adult book in 2005. Almost 7 million copies in the US were sold in the first 24 hours of it being on the shelf!

Star Wars Episode III: Revenge of the Sith ranked # 1 in the box office for the 2005 year bringing in 309 million dollars after the whole hype was over.

ABERCROMBIE
& FITCH

Abercrombie & Fitch and American Eagle clothing is still as popular as usual but it seems that teens these days have been wearing it more and more... well... it is comfy!

7 Jeans A-Pockets!!! Big fad for the guys and gals this year. These are sported by Seniors Kameron Smith and Larissa Benz.

The loveable All-Stars have always been popular, yet they seem to have really taken off this year. Juicy Couture bags are adored by the teenage girls among the high schools - same with Burbury and Coach.

Pop Culture - 1999

Like South Pole, Foca Wear is popular for both guys and gals. Some sweat-shirts these days feature this "bling" above.

In the Memory of Jeriel Tormo 1988-2005

Jeriel Tormo 190

Jeriel
By Colten Yeigh

From the time that we met you, until the end
You were always our brother and always our friend
From the time we were young till the time we grew tall
You stood beside us through it all
Through all of the laughter and all of the tears
We walked together through years and years
A light in a world that seems so dark
If our faith is a candle then you were the spark Touching the lives of all who you could Showing us compassion where no one else would
You gave us courage to do what was right
Step out of the darkness and into the light

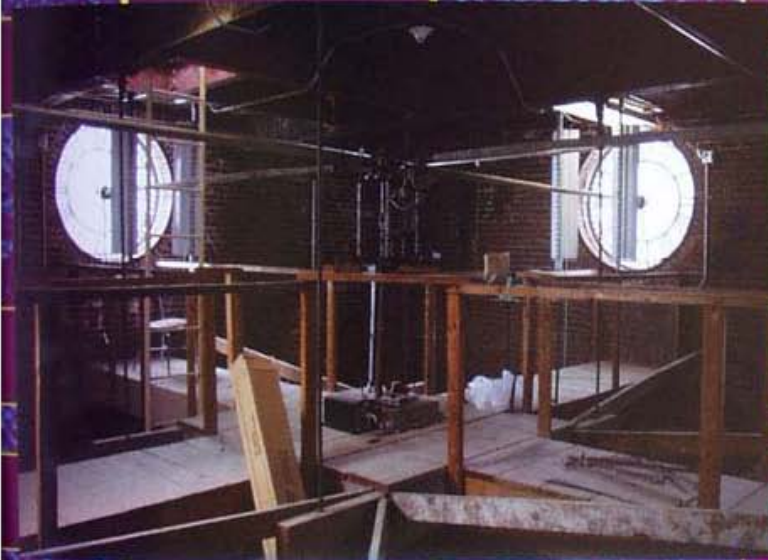

We're left here without you, but so much to say
Now that the angels have lifted you away
We all feel the loss, we all feel sorrow
Knowing you're not going to be here tomorrow
Our job now is to never forget
For we know Jeriel, that you have no regret
You have lived for the lord that resides up above
And we all know no he surrounds you with love

Places you don't see

To witness this panoramic view, you must ascend up a ladder onto the roof through a door in the clock tower.

Locked doors and hidden niches and restricted areas are scattered throughout the one-hundred year old LC building. Few people, and rarely students, behold the inner workings of our school.

On the north side of the third floor there is a door harboring the clock tower and the machinery that makes it tick.

In the foundation of the school, a small system of caverns twists beneath the basement floor. The area formerly housed the boiler, but is now used for storage.

The renovations to the school a few years ago brought about new boiler room in the basement of the school.

Places you don't see - 191

On either side of the auditorium stage are the inner workings of the school's organs.
