

Email sent 3/26 to parents/guardians

Hello everyone,

I wanted to send out a group email to all my parents/guardians regarding online resources the district would like everyone to have access to. Over the next few days I expect to be getting a number of growing resources sent to me via email so I will be passing them on to you all. I will also periodically be sending links that may assist in any log-in issues that arise. Finally, I know many of you did not have an opportunity to pick up the optional packets of materials that were created for your child. I wanted to let you know that when I am allowed back into the building I will mail these out if you would like. I appreciate everyone's patience thru this difficult time and I want everyone to know I am available if needed. I check my phone messages frequently and email is always a great option as well. Thanks so much and stay safe!

JD

509-354-5813

Link on how to login to Clever learning academy:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WTA4xaNsQaw&feature=youtu.be>

Once your student is signed into Clever they will have access to a few learning applications. The two that are the most commonly used are MobyMax and Khan Academy. I have also recently added ABCmouse for students working on letters, numbers etc. Just a heads up Khan Academy has some higher level tasks so it may not be appropriate for some students.

Here is a source sent to me for some parents if you're interested as well:

This is a resource for families (hosted by SETC).

<https://zoom.us/meeting/register/uZMvduyprjwvoWO1NRwaQlLay3GDqCTKmg>

Welcome! You are invited to join a meeting: AT Chatter for Caregivers: Supporting AT/AAC Needs During School Closure. After registering, you will receive a confirmation email about joining the meeting.

These are uncharted times. With your children at home you might be wondering how to support their learning in a practical way, while balancing their other needs. With so many resources online, how do you decide what to use with your own children? What does this look like for children with complex physical and communication challenges? This AT Chatter is an opportunity to gather with caregivers across the state and discuss what resources are available and how to make it work in a practical way. Educators are welcome, but caregiver voices will be heard first. Together we are strong! Objectives: • Discuss what resources are available for supporting children with disabilities while they learn from home. • Discuss strategies and resources for children with complex physical and communication challenges and how to adapt existing resources. • Share professional development opportunities for families and educators around assistive technology and augmentative alternative communication.

zoom.us

They have to register:

Topic

AT Chatter for Caregivers: Supporting AT/AAC Needs During School Closure

Description

These are uncharted times. With your children at home you might be wondering how to support their learning in a practical way, while balancing their other needs. With so many resources online, how do you decide what to use with your own children? What does this look like for children with complex physical and communication challenges? This AT Chatter is an opportunity to gather with caregivers across the state and discuss what resources are available and how to make it work in a practical way. Educators are welcome, but caregiver voices will be heard first. Together we are strong!

Objectives:

- Discuss what resources are available for supporting children with disabilities while they learn from home.
- Discuss strategies and resources for children with complex physical and communication challenges and how to adapt existing resources.
- Share professional development opportunities for families and educators around assistive technology and augmentative alternative communication.

Time

Mar 27, 2020 11:30 AM in Pacific Time \(US and Canada\)