three lunches 11-12:30

This week I want to update you on the next journey for the Lawson family. We are in the final stages of becoming a licensed foster family with the goal of a permanent placement. This has long been our family plan and we decided this summer that the timing was right to move forward. It is an exciting time but also for someone who is a planner there are so many unknowns and it can be overwhelming. We believe the universe will bring the right experience for our family and as we move forward, I will keep you informed. I anticipate I will take family leave when the placement is permanent. On Friday mornings before work I volunteer in the NICU holding babies exposed to drugs or without families of their own to hold them. The experience broadens my perspective of the commitment of a community to its children. It is this commitment and our desire to share our family with a child in need that has moved us forward to take this leap. Thank you in advance for what I know will be much needed support and encouragement. I am blessed to be in this community right now!

"Volunteering is the ultimate exercise in democracy. You vote in elections once a year but when you volunteer, you vote every day about the kind of community you want to live in."
