Our staff values cultural competency and social justice as a core value in our educational approach. This week staff participated in 3 of our total 6 hours of training in developing a culturally responsive classroom. We recognize the ongoing need to meet the needs of a diverse learning community and staff engaged in some intense reflection on our own beliefs and experiences in order to better understand this range of diversity in our classrooms. In addition to these training opportunities we are also engaging in a book study on how to build resilience and hope in educators to ensure that we have developed our best capacity to serve humans under construction. We recognize both our students and we as adults are working on self-improvement. I always wish you could be a fly on the wall and hear the rich reflections each staff member shares. I also wish you could witness the love each staff member has for your child. In this community we build the capacity to change the world within each student we serve.
